Features

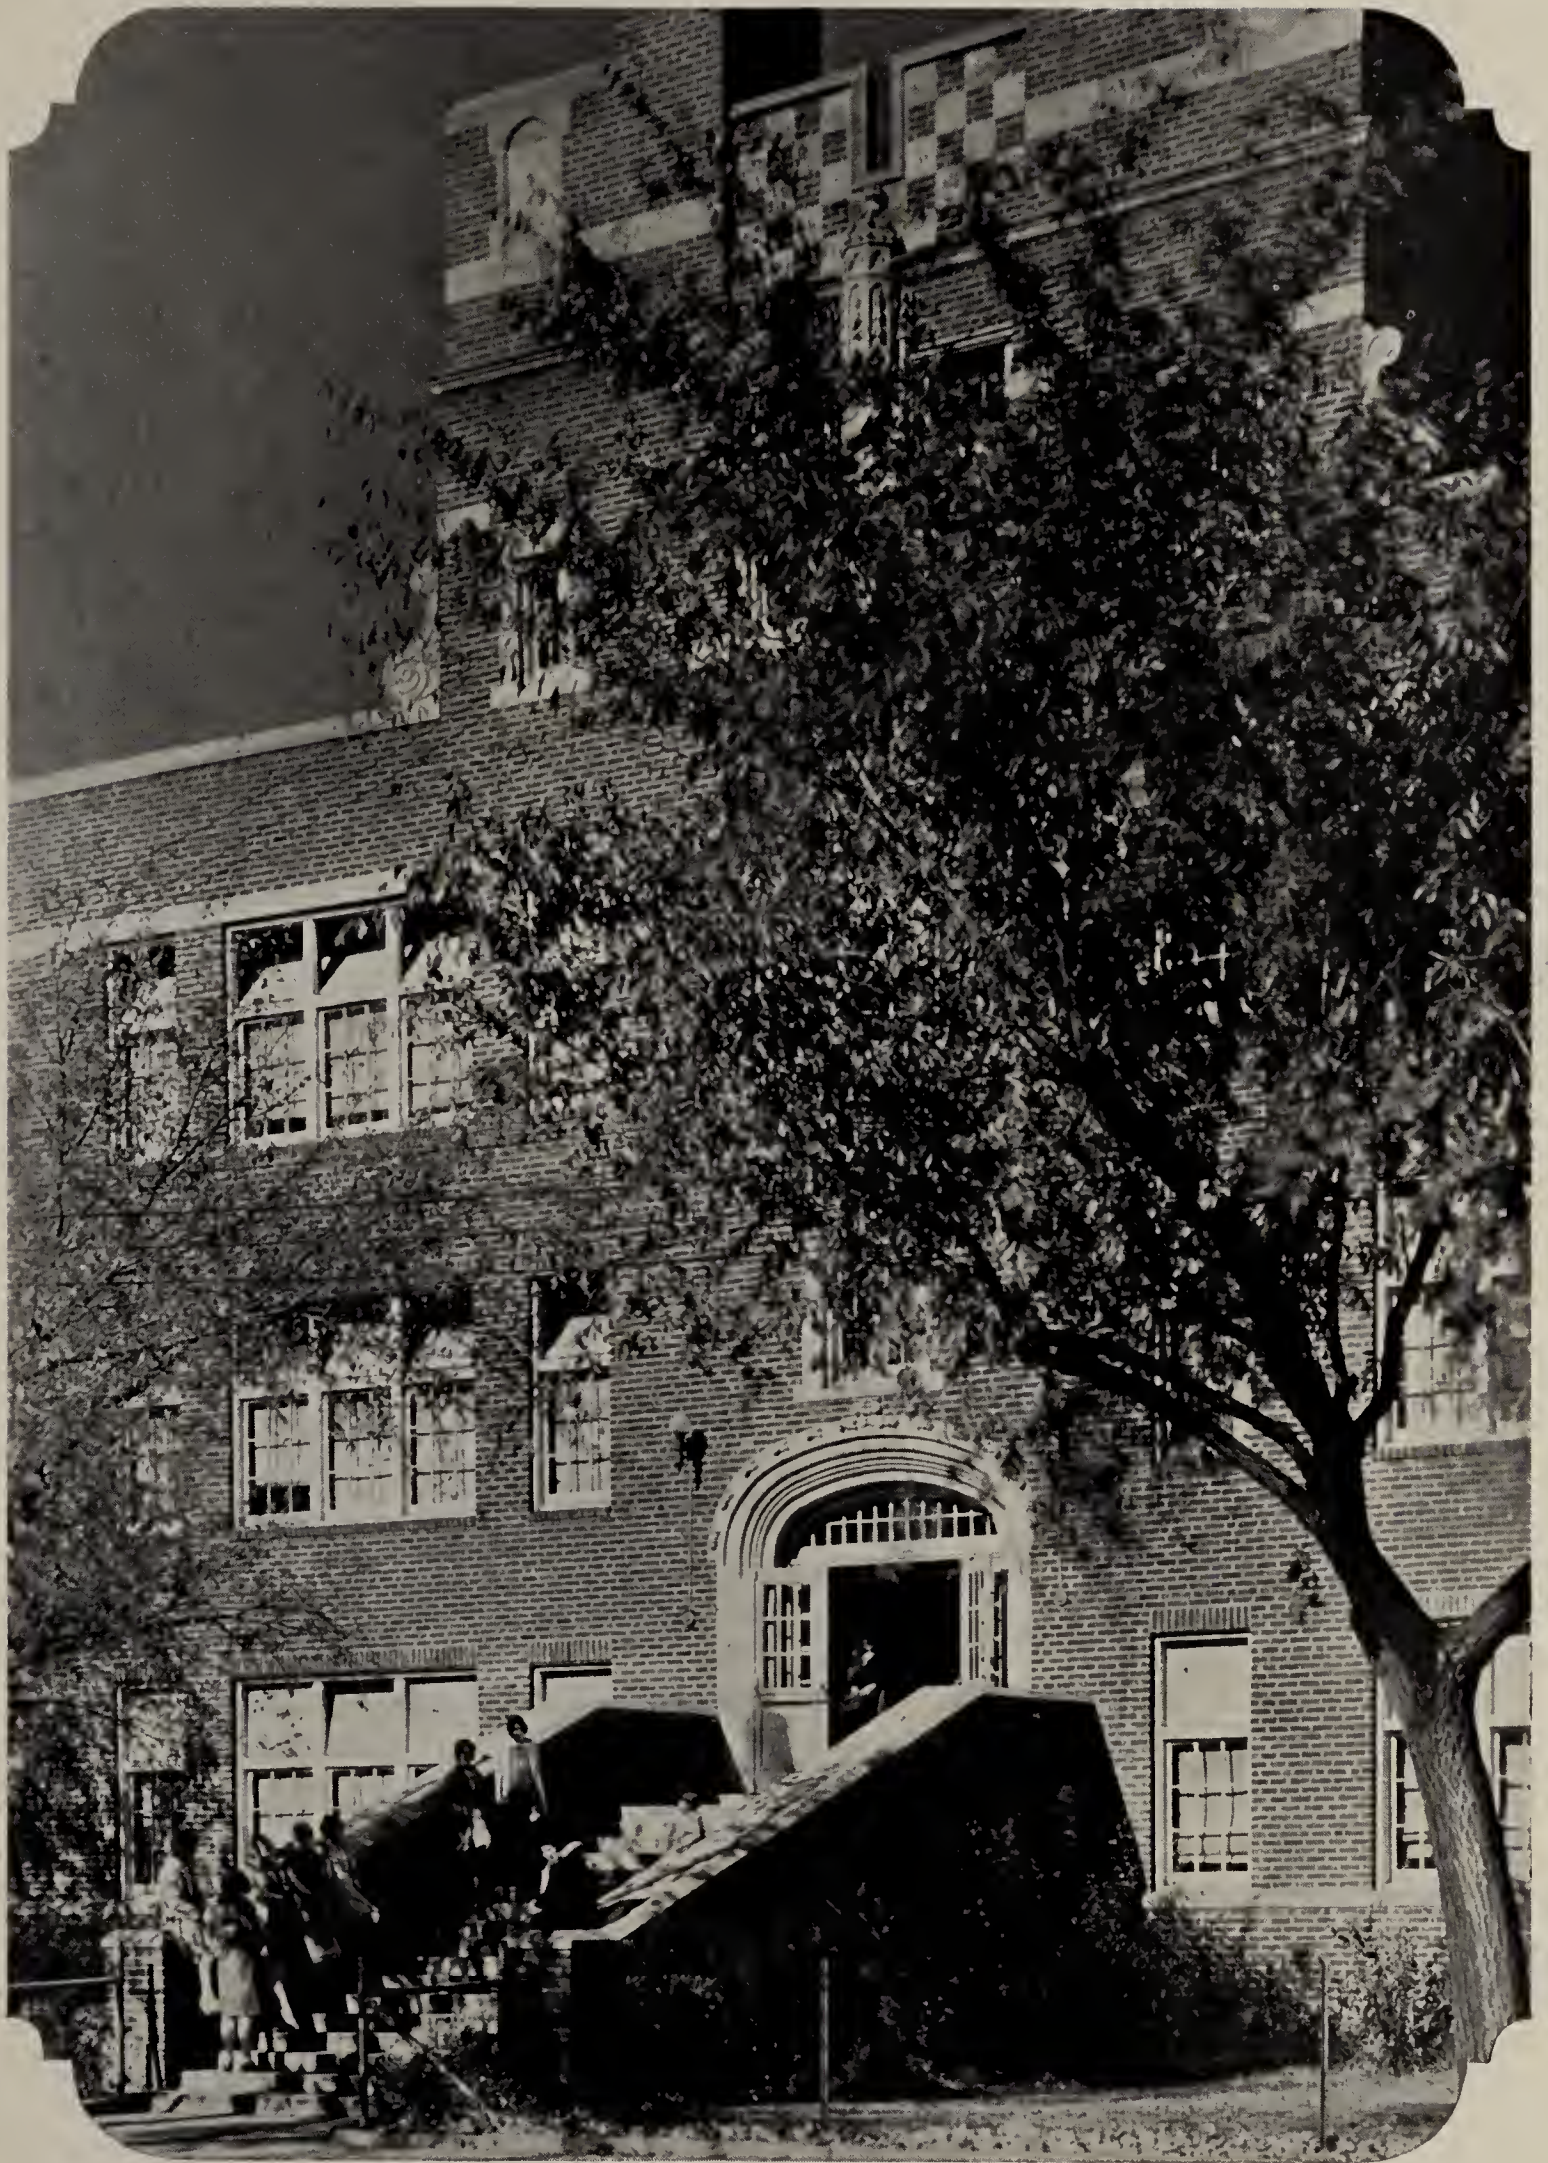

The G. R.'s chicken dinner service is a feature of every game. But it is the Pep Club that creates an atmosphere of victory and discourages fast ones from the visiting team.

The band in white pants on parade with Herlan strutting his stuff is the most spectacular number of S. H. S.

All School night the Maroons played a smashing game under the flood lights.

Coach Douglass is watering the guys at the half. Among those present are 32, 19, and 17.

The Junior Business Woman's Club is made up of girls who run their own machines. Miss Long directs here.

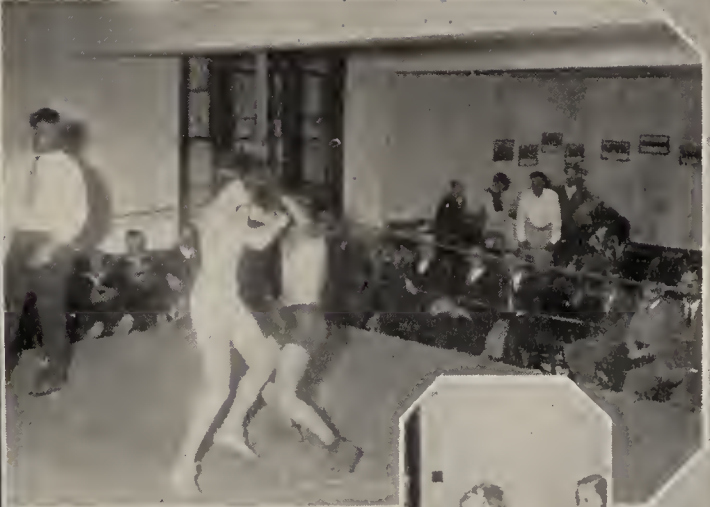

The Kodak Club are those lucky students who own cameras and want to know something about photography.

The Ellen H. Richards Club are D. S. girls studying further the art of home-making under Miss Miller.

The Trall staff paused for a moment and concentrated on their finished pages.

The Classical Club came back from the grandeur that was Rome for this important sitting.

The News staff looked up and then went right on with the news grind.

The all-school carnival on the night of December 12 set a new high record for high school fun. Spread out on three floors of the Masonic Temple, the carnival attracted a crowd that satisfied the chairman, H. D. Kemper, and provided necessary funds for urgent school enterprises.

Every school organization used its talent to attract the public. The band was one of the chief noise makers, out-thundered only by the ninth grade hawkers.

Jim Douglass's light-weight boxers were a heavy number. Eighth grade tap dancers, contortionists, and side-shows were all there. Eskimo pies and ice-cream lollipops melted as they should, and all was as merry as a half holiday.

SCHOOL

W. S. HEUSNER

Superintendent

This year W. S. Heusner completes eighteen years of service as superintendent of the Salina Public Schools. During these years the development of the city has not been more rapid than the growth of the Salina School system under Superintendent Heusner. Sound judgment, careful organization, and inspirational leadership have been prime factors in an educational policy that has placed Salina schools with the first in the state.

Under the leadership of W. S. Heusner the high school has been reorganized as a six-year course, directed by one principal. Two new buildings, Lincoln and Roosevelt, have been built during his superintendency to meet a growing high school enrollment that has increased from 647 in 1913 with a graduating class of 43, to 1675 in 1931 with a graduating class of 181.

W. S. Heusner's personality is felt in every department of the Salina schools. World problems he believes are solved in the schoolroom.

W. W. WARING

Principal

For five years W. W. Waring has been serving the Salina High School first as vice-principal at Washington and later as principal of the three buildings. His prime duties include the direction of more than sixteen hundred high school students and sixty-five teachers who make up the enrollment and faculty of the Salina High School.

Since W. W. Waring became principal, the high school has grown in numbers, has expanded its curriculum, and has added to its teaching force. Scholarship records have been maintained and in a number of instances exceeded.

Principal W. W. Waring greets high school students first with a smile that wins confidence, then with an x-ray look that suggests observation. An assembly speech by the principal means a good story, perhaps two, that introduce the theme or fix the point. When asked what working ideas he has for high school boys and girls he invariably says, "I want them to feel the real issues of life and adjust themselves accordingly."

The Washington student vote in the October school election made Lawrence Spencer editor and Esther Epp associate editor of the Salina High School News. Under their leadership, the class in journalism with Miss Margaret Carpenter as instructor and director, put out the weekly news.

Lawrence Spencer as editor-in-chief with his associate editor, assumed the responsibility of getting all the news and seeing that it was written up in time to go to press. Esther Epp also wrote Pep-R Colm, an entertaining column of comments on trivial events.

Kaywood Hanson and Mason Sampson were the czars of the sporting page. Incidents of the game that were missed by the sideline observer were exposed by these two. When it came to dope on games, ratings, players, and anything in their line, they knew everything, and they let the public share their knowledge.

Faye Travis, the most voluminous writer on the staff, contributed a large part of the editorial page each week, her feature work appearing under the titles, "Paula's Perpetual Motion," "Modern Literature," Anderson's American History as Reported by a Senior." Two other prominent editorial page contributors were Elizabeth Cates, whose humorous column, "Kate's Kracks" was the freshmen's favorite, and Gard Pierce who wrote editorials when he was strongly convinced of the need of reform.

Joe Kent White and Thelma Payton reported the various school clubs and activities. As a member of the Hi-Y cabinet, Joe gave that organization much favorable publicity. Thelma centered on the Girl Reserves and wrote up whatever miscellaneous club material that was turned in.

Marcella Penix as alumni editor gave to the readers the story of all high school graduates that appeared in the day's news.

Lois Thompson and Harold Page reported the news stories of Lincoln and Roosevelt. One of their heavy weekly duties was to visit the news boxes and write up the contents.

Charlotte Boswell had charge of the exchange news, filed the exchange papers, and was a contributor to various departments of the paper.

Miss Margaret Carpenter had a large share in the success of the 1931 News.

TRAIL STAFF

TOP ROW—Miller, Howard, Pagan.
SECOND ROW—Hammontree, Rearwin, Breon, Law, Weis.
THIRD ROW—Sexsmith, Epp, Thompson.

The Trail staff is an all-senior group with Gard Pierce as editor and Maxine Breon and Iantha Weis as associate editors, that elected the publication of the 1931 annual. Although organization and work began late in October, the high school presses were printing Trail copy before March 1.

Every member of the staff contributed to the success of the 1931 Trail, but those members having the fifth hour free gave more time to the publication.

Gard Pierce, editor, was absent when the Trail picture was taken but present on athletic write-ups and editorship in general.

Ambrose Law, in charge of the subscription drive, with the help of Bob Howard planned and carried out the broadcast program from the high school studio. Bob was also a persistent caller upon the photographers during the period of senior sittings.

Olaf Pagan handled the faculty for the staff and collected and typed endless rolls, identifying high school students from seventh grade to senior class. When the typewriter hummed for the Trail, Olaf was fingering the keys.

Iantha Weis and Maxine Breon, associate editors, assisted in planning the Trail, and Iantha compiled the senior data and contributed other copy.

Kenneth Rearwin, business manager, began his apprenticeship on the 1930 uncollected bills. After this success, debate and dramatics further qualified him for soliciting ads.

Faye Travis wrote and illustrated life as it runs in S. H. S. in the Dairy of a Senior and assisted by Lois Thompson made the attractive Trail posters.

Jean Sexsmith wrote copy for the activity section and planned and compiled the senior directory. She and Lila Miller did necessary detail work, Lila specializing on proof reading.

Esther Epp and Mary Hammontree worked together in selling old annual pictures and created the first postage fund for the staff's business correspondence.

Much of the success was due to the effort and advice of Miss Katherine Gemmill, sponsor and director of the Trail staff.

The Trail was printed in the high school print shop under the direction of W. H. Woodhouse.

ROOSEVELT GIRL RESERVES

Girl Reserves strive to find and give the best, to live up to standards of Christian living at school and in the community. With these high purposes as objectives Washington, Lincoln, and Roosevelt each has its G. R. organization to help high school girls get acquainted with the best in life and to make the best their choice.

Each organization has its cabinet its working program, its social life, and its faculty sponsors. In each building the Girl Reserves has the largest club enrollment among the girls and the most complete program for spiritual and social development.

Monday is G. R. day at Washington. Over one hundred and twenty girls attend regularly the weekly meeting. The program committee has carried out this year a series of programs that have been termed adventures in the field of religion, travel, music, dramatics and charm. Every sixth meeting has been open to all the girls of the school at which worthwhile talks have been given by women of Salina.

Funds in the Washington G. R. treasury will permit this year three delegates to attend the Estes Park vacation conference. The sixty dollars sent for national dues was made at a dinner put on by the Girls' Work committee. Candy sales at games also have had a part in filling the treasury.

Big events in the G. R. program this year have been the membership party that followed the September drive, the Christmas service, the Mother's tea, the Easter breakfast, and the Mother and Daughter banquet at which the officers for next year were installed.

G. R. groups are all under the general direction of Miss Brackett, the Girls' Work Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. Each school, however, has its faculty sponsors. At Washington these sponsors are Miss Kate B. Miles assisted by Miss Carpenter; at Lincoln Miss Kathleen O'Donnell, Miss Faye Knox, Miss Edith Smith; at Roosevelt Miss Entz, Miss Ferris, Miss Haggart, and Miss Lynch.

SECOND ROW: Rearwin, president; Wood; Lebow, secretary; Brown.
BOTTOM ROW: Hanson; McCramer; Epp; Bangs, treasurer; Armstrong.

Debate this year was both a curricular and an extra-curricular subject. The class which met daily was further stimulated by a debate club that met weekly and had a part in developing the state question, Resolved: That chain stores are detrimental to the best interest of the American public.

The debate season opened early in December, beginning a series of forty-five practice debates with other high schools. Twenty-three of these clashes were decision debates, of which the Salina teams won sixteen.

Represented by Dorothy Eangs and Kenneth Rearwin affirmative speakers, and Roberta Lebow and James Molby, negative speakers, Salina took first place in the Central Kansas League by defeating Ellsworth's affirmative team in the semi-finals, and Ellsworth's negative team in the finals.

Salina again placed first in the district championship when both teams won in a triangular debate with Junction City and Florence. At the state tournament at Lawrence Salina's affirmative team defeated Ashland and her negative team defeated Manhattan in the first round.

J. E. Anderson, debate coach, was an active force in Salina's successful debate season.

Letters in debate were won by Roberta Lebow, Dorothy Bangs, Mary McCramer, Doyne Brown, Kenneth Rearwin, James Molby, Kaywood Hanson, and Gillette Houck.

Salina High School has made application to the National Forensic League and plans to establish a chapter this spring.

PEP CLUB

The Pep Club, more than one hundred twenty-five enthusiastic sport fans, lead by its own hand, lived up to the heat of its name and gave organized support to the season's football and basketball games.

Topped with jaunty maroon berets and equipped with individual megaphones, they sat as a body at all games and cheered on the Salina team with music, yells, and songs that worked an opposite effect on the confidence of the visiting teams. Clever advertising before games and stunts and other entertainment between halves were also a part of the support and loyalty of this club.

Officers of the Pep Club are Raymond Miller, president, and Dora Lee Templin, Jack Hoffman, and LaVergne Bank, cheer leaders. C. F. Lebow sponsored this organization.

BRUCE SWIFT

When determination was needed, no one could out do Bruce. Every minute of the game saw him trying; he never gave up, no matter how hopeless the score seemed. Bruce always enjoyed being in the most bruising part of the game. He has another season with the Maroons.

CECIL SHELLEY

Before the season was well under way, Cecil had given undoubted evidence of great punting ability. In the Ellsworth game he was responsible for the brilliant kicks that sailed the ball well over the opponents' heads. Shelley also played a hard game at tackle.

DUANE KRATZER

Although smaller than his brother, Duane's size was not to be discounted too readily, and neither was his speed. He spent the season at quarterback and certainly did not have to give any excuses to anyone for the way he played that difficult position. He will be missed next year.

BEVERLY HARRISON

"Bev" was another player, who possessed a strong body with speed enough for two. He was a crack end, whose superb playing was among the high spots in many games. A shoulder injury received in the Ellsworth game hindered him somewhat and kept him out of several battles, but nothing could keep him from distinguishing himself.

Beverly Harrison

MASON SAMPSON

Mason's weight and steadiness characterize him in his football playing as well as in everything else. With two season's experience he had learned what to do in every emergency, and he did it. He is a senior.

COSTELLO TAYLOR

Coming to Salina High with a valuable football past, "Cozy" immediately established himself as one of the braces of the team. He was a consistent yard-gainer, who was responsible for many successful plays. His weight and strength and speed made him adaptable to the position of halfback, and his cooperation with the rest of the team helped to win many games.

OREN KRATZER

Both Oren and the team had a misfortune when he received an injury in an automobile accident that prevented his playing in several games. His weight and strength made him well known to his opponents. He also did some mighty fine punting. Oren is a junior.

TOMMY ADAMS

Adams never missed a night's practice and was particularly effective throughout the season at blocking and offensive play. He was also on the heaving end of most of the passes. Tommy is a junior.

BOB SWIFT

Neither of the Swift brothers depended on the other for his reputation. Bob played the responsible position of center all through the season and played it well. He always did his best to get the ball back in time to enable the plays to work smoothly. Bob has two more seasons ahead of him and, no doubt, will be one of the experienced men the team will be built around next year.

RALPH WILSON

Wilson played tackle and guard consistently and was another of the players who could supply the weight that every successful football team must have. Any member of an opposing team had a hard time breaking through the line when Wilson was blocking him. Ralph is a junior.

RAYFIELD SCROGGINS

Possessed of a fleetness few could equal and a dash that made him always popular with the spectators. Scroggins contributed fully his share to the team's honors. He was responsible for the season's spectacular run of ninety-seven yards in the Ellsworth game.

EARL TEMPLIN

Templin and Reitz never missed a practice and their attitude and cooperation did much to keep the team running smoothly. Templin saw in-and-out service at guard, which he played with an evenness that could always be depended on. He will be missed next year.

CARL HEDERSTEDT

Hederstedt is a junior who began playing football seriously while a sophomore. On the team he played guard, and with his weight plugged up any holes that were near on the defensive. As an offensive player, he was one of the battering rams.

GUS BUCHHOLZ

Buchholz was a dangerous tackle and blocker, who possessed the speed of many a backfield man. He played in-and-out football, but when he was IN, the opposing players did not go around his end. He will be even more valuable to the team next year.

JOHN CARNEY

Size and perseverance made Carney an aggressive tackler and a steady guard. He always tried hard to get his man and did not know what the word GIVE UP meant. No matter how big they were, John pulled them down with a thud.

LORIN BROWN

Lorin saw service in practically every game at half. Muscles and endurance made him a fine defensive player, and his speed enabled him to carry the ball for many substantial gains. He perhaps played his best game against Wichita. He is a junior.

LEONARD REITZ

Although Leonard did not play as often as some squad members, he knew what was expected of him and was always deep in the scramble. His position was half back, and his playing with the team had an experienced smoothness. He is a senior.

ROY DILLINGHAM

Roy Dillingham, according to Coach Douglass, was an efficient athletic manager and performed capably all the duties of his office.

THE MAROONS

TOP ROW: Scroggins, Gutsch, Sampson, Carney, Wilson, D. Kratzer, Taylor, Hederstedt, Bob Swift, Uhrlaub, Coach Ass't.

SECOND ROW: Coach Douglass, Brown, Templin, Reitz, Harrison, Adams, Bruce Swift, Shelley, Buchholz, O. Kratzer.

Starting with an inexperienced team of only eight returning lettermen, Coach Douglass with this nucleus succeeded in developing a good team both on the offense and on the defense, although there were times when the Maroons met defeat.

Minor injuries during the season were plentiful, but none of a serious enough nature to keep any player out of more than one game.

Playing against a strong, experienced team, the Maroons lost to Topeka High in their initial game 31-0. In the first home game, however, they atoned this loss by holding a strong Emporia team to a 0-0 score. The game with Chapman was the greatest disappointment of the season. In this encounter Salina lost 13-0. Three consecutive victories followed when the Maroons won from Ellsworth 32-13, McPherson 26-0, and Wichita on Salina High Night 21-7. The season closed with two losses to Junction City 13-6, and to Abilene on Thanksgiving Day, 26-0, making four losses and four wins for the season's record.

The second team tied its game with the McPherson seconds and lost to Kanopolis 6-0. Brookville 45-0, and to Barnard 6-0. During the past season fifteen more boys were out than there were the previous year.

THE JUNIOR MAROONS

SECOND ROW: Clark, Mgr., Cassel, Waring, Warholm, DeWar, Wilson, Spaeth, Templin, Wood, Cannon, Cost, Fuller, C. Patchen.

With principally inexperienced material to work with Guy Gilstrap, Junior High coach, developed a successful junior team, that lost only one game during the last season.

Kanopolis first fell before the Juniors and was the beginning of a series of victories for the Salina team. In the second game Assaria went down by a score of 6-0. Unable to stop the vicious plunges of Wheatley, the Brookville star, the Juniors lost their only game in this encounter. The third victory of the Little Maroons was over the Concordia Juniors. The Cadets were unable to hold the strong line of the Juniors and again the Salina team checked up a 14-0 victory. To climax the season the Little Maroons won a second victory over the Concordia Juniors. A spectacular run of 85 yards in this game and a touchdown was made when a player fell in the end zone after the kickoff.

Templin, Clark, Starbuck, Buell, Scroggins, and Spaeth played exceptionally well for the Juniors.

TOMMY ADAMS, Guard

Tommy played a cool, even game at guard, now and then making a quick foray under the basket, coming back with two points, and sometimes slyly slipping in long ones. He was chosen guard on C. K. L. All League Second Team. Although smaller than most guards, he stood out as a strong spot on the team. Tommy is a junior.

VINTON HIGHT, Center

Vinton started the season as a regular and soon firmly established himself at center. His height enabled him to get the tip which gave Salina the ball. Vinton's best game was at Herington. After the season, Vinton was elected honorary captain for the year.

GUS BUCHHOLZ, Forward

Buchholz played both forward and guard when called upon. Although he sometimes had bad luck with his shooting, he always played a steady, intense game. He is a junior.

BOB SWIFT, Guard

Bob helped Tommy at guard. He was not so spectacular a player as his brother perhaps, but a fast dribbler, accurate shot, and a tireless man on the defense. He is another who should be a great help to the 1932 team. He will be back for two more years.

RALPH WILSON, Guard and Center

Wilson alternated with Swift at guard and sometimes played center. Perhaps not so quick as some, yet he was a steady, dependable player. He is another who should be a great help to the 1932 team.

BRUCE SWIFT, Forward

Bruce must be classified among the most desperate fighters. His hard playing made every game he played interesting to the fans on the sides. He added to the score of every game, and was often the high point man. The minute the starting-whistle sounded, he leaped to catch the tip off and usually got it.

ESTREL OBERG, Forward

Oberg's shots did not always do what they were supposed to, but he played a good game and generally boosted the score a few points. He is a junior and will probably be in the game next year.

KEITH COLE, Guard and Forward

Keith was a late entry. Starting in the Chapman game, he played so cleverly that he saw action in all the games that followed. He was a puzzling player to the opponents, managing every little bit to sneak a couple of points with a fast set-up. Keith is a sophomore.

COSTELLO TAYLOR, Forward

Cozzy did not see a great deal of playing but played hard and fast when he did. Naturally a fast man he used his speed to the best advantage as he does everything he goes into. He is a senior.

DUANE KRATZER, Forward

Duane was somewhat lacking in size but was a clever dribbler and a good hustler. He made several passes that were responsible for points and also made a few set-ups on his own account. His great game was against Elsworth in the tournament. Kratzer is a senior.

WILLIS SARVIS, Manager

Much of the smoothness of the games can be traced to the manager, Willis Sarvis. Willis carried out his duties of basketball manager with the same energy he does everything else.

Looking Ahead

(Sports Forecast)

Prospects in all three major sports for '31 and '32 are promising, and barring accidents, Salina High should be in line for some championships in the C. K. L. Out of the football squad of forty-one, all but seven will return next year. These seven, all first team letter men, are Cecil Shelley, Earl Templin, Costello Taylor, Mason Sampson, Leonard Reitz, Duane Kratzer, and Beverly Harrison. This exodus of seniors will leave ten lettermen in school as a center for next year's team building. With the added strength of the second team lettermen and the Juniors, Coach Douglass ought to produce a strong squad that will be equal to any in the district.

In basketball the loss by graduation is even a smaller percentage, as only two out of the ten lettermen leaving, Costello Taylor and Duane Kratzer, are seniors. In addition to the eight lettermen, are twelve other squadmen. As it was out of these that a first class second team was made, they should give valuable help. The majority of the unbeaten junior team and squad will also be present and will lend valuable assistance to Coach Uhrlanb in organizing championship material.

In track the team that won th C. K. L. meet this year will lose some of its best point-winners but it will offset the loss by falling heir to some fine material from the juniors. Beverly Harrison, who set a new C. K. L. record in the century and in the broad jump this year, will be lost. Costello Taylor, who trailed Harrison in the 100-yard dash by half an inch for a second place and took another second broad jump in the C. K. L. meet is also a graduating senior. Wesley Sanderson, another record-breaker among the fast men of the squad and a valuable member of the relay team, will probably graduate. This will leave only Scroggins in school from the quartet which tied the C. K. L. half mile relay mark this year in the C. K. L. meet. Phillips, a hurdler, Came, a half-miler, Hoffman and Shelley, javelin throwers, and Sampson, weight-man, are others that will not return.

MAROONS

JUNIOR MAROONS

TRACK TEAM

A SENIOR'S DIARY

Just As It Happened

I have solemnly resolved to keep a diary during my senior year, so that I can remember dear old Wash-out in the years to come. Besides it will do my English as much good as an Emporia test, and Miss Moore says I am weak in fundamentals, whatever they are. If I am alive at the ancient age of thirty, I can live over my school days again merely by reading this diary. And think of the thrill!

CALENDAR

Sept. 8—Should have begun school today but didn't on account of quarantine. Was sure glad for more rest this hot weather. Isn't it hot? Whew!

Sept. 12—Enrolled today. Saw all the kids I used to know. Mr. Anderson practically accused me of flunking last year.

Sept. 13—It sure is great to be a senior. Everybody thinks you're important. You ought to see how respectful the juniors are to us seniors.

Sept. 15—Classes just like last year. Teachers are as hard as the front steps. Mr. Sites looks funny, but Lois says it's because he has a new hair cut.

Sept. 16—Got out of school because the water was turned off. Don't know who turned it off, but I bet some of these manual training guys who know how to use tools did it.

Sept. 17—School under quarantine again. I was glad I didn't get my history lesson today. It would have been time wasted.

Oct. 1—Back in school and this time until July 4, the kids say. I have Anderson twice a day. Well, I hope he knows some new songs.

Oct. 2—Decided to get out the first issue of the News in two weeks. Hope some one knows more about it than I do.

Oct. 4—Played Topeka. Oren got hurt and spoiled our chances. Boys are so thoughtless sometimes.

Oct. 6—Activity ticket sale began today. It sure is a bargain if you can get the money. Games, News, Trail, and everything for $2.50.

Oct. 7—The G. R. campaign began today. The cabinet girls are wearing arm bands and trying to make you pay fifty cents to belong.

Oct. 10—First issue of the News came out today. All the kids were looking for their name. If they find them, they say the paper is great.

Oct. 15—Clubs began today. I can't decide whether to be uplifted by the G. R. or go to Rome with Miss Miles and the Classical Club.

Oct. 16—Verona raced with the cop today, but he won.

Oct. 18—Chapman game lost 13-0. Less said the better.

Oct. 19—Gard and Lawrence are both running for the editor of the News. In class they took turns trying out the editor's chair. If the vote is a tie Lawrence says he is going to hold Gard on his knee.

Oct. 21—Elections came off today. Can't imagine how Bob Cassell ever got his office. There were so many running against him.

Oct. 22—A whole lot of the kids—I ought to say goats—are yelling for Brinkley.

Oct. 24—Beat Ellsworth 32-12. The big parade was a tramp all right. Herlan was sure stucy on the leader of the Benningtion drum corps. Scroggins made a 98-yard dash and left the Pep club hoarse. We were all in when the game was over.

Oct. 31—Hallowe'en. Heard some boys got arrested. We started to turn over a porch swing and the crazy thing came down. We beat it.

Nov. 1—I sold one ticket to the Y. W. C. A. luncheon. I guess I'm going to make a success of salesmanship.

Nov. 3—Cafeteria opened today. Miss Miller has a radio in the lunch room to drown the noise of the kids drinking their soup. I bet it was Lebow's idea. He hates discord of any sort.

Nov. 4—Gillette Houck sat down on a tack. He usually likes a good joke like that, but today he was mad.

Nov. 6—A lot o fthe kids have had their pictures taken for the annual and were showing their proofs today. I think the girls in this year's senior class is the best looking S. H. S. has ever had.

Nov. 10—Wrote a big sob story for Armistize Day for the News.

Nov. 11—Got our grade cards. Max says his grades aren't so hot.

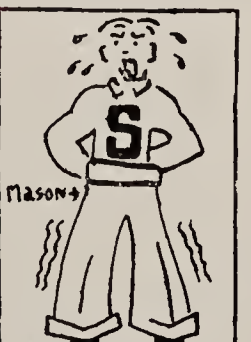

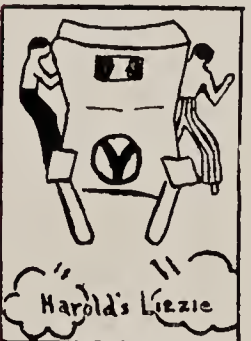

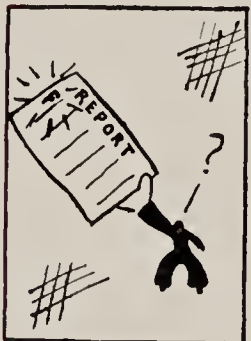

Nov. 14—Orchestra played a whole concert in assembly. I heard that Miss Means had a crush on some guy with specs; so Mr. Lebow had the kids play, "I'm Falling in Love with Some One."

Nov. 25—Laura Lucille gave Ross C. a set back when she plunged around the corner this morning. Ross thought he was playing Chapman.

Nov. 26—Hodgson read Turkey Day Proclamation in assembly. The football boys were introduced in case you didn't know them. Mason made a touching farewell address. He sure is a keen public speaker. Half the school is going to Abilene tomorrow to tie up the cowboys.

Dec. 2—Anderson was fifteen minutes late today and the kids had a big chalk fight. About six were injured.

Dec. 3—Another fire drill came off this afternoon. A heavy junior named Kearns stepped on my toe. At first I thought I'd been run over by a Cadillac.

Dec. 5—The Millionaire was a good show. Ed. and Dorothea got into some action at the end.

Dec. 12—Fun Festival certainly drew a crowd. Mr. Kemper was the manager and everybody that wasn't eating a hot dog was selling something. I heard they made a lot of jack for the activities. I contributed thirty cents myself.

Dec. 15—Everybody's talking about Christmas vacation. If we have two weeks, I am going to take a good rest. School is pretty heavy for me.

Dec. 19—Miss Mtans' class gave a keen play in assembly. It was worth a nickle to see Dick Armstrong in his little bonnet. I can't concentrate on my business English when I think of it. Herlan Loyd hung some mistletoe up in the hall this noon and everybody waited for something to happen. Damon stood around waiting for Caroline or Margaret. If every noon was as lively, nobody would ever be tardy.

Jan. 6—EXTRA! The News won fourth place in editorial contest and we're all set up. It takes work to be literary.

Jan. 7—Grade cards passed out. Some kids are sure sore because they didn't put anything over. Scroggins took a nap in sociology.

Jan. 8—Marquette debate team arrived and Andy called off sociology.

Jan. 9—We had a keen play in assembly. Herlan lowered his voice and made love to a widow. Gee! Herlan acts as if he enjoyed showing off.

Jan. 11—Bunch of us kids went kodaking this afternoon. Raymond took a tailspin for a little excitement.

Jan. 12—Had a talk on what to eat and how to eat it in G. R. Talking about food, I sure can chew gum carefully. Miss Fulton didn't notice me today.

Jan. 15—Dora Lee got some teeth knocked loose in gym tonight. Lindsborg game but we lost again.

Jan. 16—Orchestra played the same piece for fifteen minutes. I call that an endurance test for the kids. Even Miss Smith was sleeping.

Jan. 19—G. R. decided on a pirate contest. Yo-ho and a bottle of Listerine or Mentholatum.

Jan. 20—Helped Verona eat her grapes.

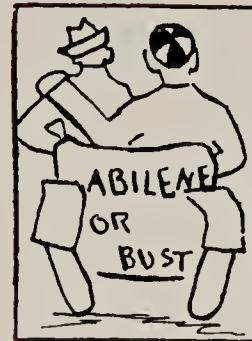

Jan. 21—Final exams begin tomorrow. Leonard peeped through the keyhole into Miss Smith's room and met the door coming out.

Jan. 24—Got my American history paper. I don't seem to agree with the history text on a number of things.

Jan. 25—Just like spring. Saw Margaret Utt and Mary Louise Gurley playing jacks in front of school just like kids. Otis has a birthday party.

Jan. 29—Nearly late for school again this noon. A girl needs to go in for track to get to school on time.

Jan. 30—Played Abilene tonight. Lots of excitement in the fourth quarter. But heck! We lost 18-20.

Feb. 2—Harold is picking me up quite regularly now. It is better than having your own car.

Feb. 4—Sextette sang for music club. No encores to speak of.

Feb. 5—Worked over modern edition of Hamlet for News. Maybe Miss Means will use it in play production class.

Feb. 9—Map hit Anderson's map when it left the wall.

Feb. 10—Tryouts tonight for C. K. L. glee club. Lebow sure has a keen ear for music.

Feb. 12—We didn't get a holiday or nothing. Lincoln might just as well been born in the summer time or in South America.

Feb. 14—Wonder if Miss McGill got a valentine from that man at Roosevelt she goes with.

Feb. 19—Andy sang "Marching Through Georgia" today. He could sure sing in the mixed chorus if he wanted to.

Feb. 20—James Molby and Kenneth Rearwin and their girls debated for an hour and a half in assembly today about where you ought to buy your groceries. I bet those girls will be hard to manage when they get to buying groceries.

Feb. 26—G. R. cabinet gave a supper. Everyone but the goats left early because of the dishes.

Mar. 5—Had a painful test in history. I think Anderson made up half those questions.

Mar. 9—Ambrose Law in his radio hour asked the kids at Washington to buy a Trail for their grandchildren. I guess Ambrose has what Hodgson calls vision.

Mar. 10—"It Won't Be Long Now" was a good show. We nearly died when Ken chased around with his lilies. He looked about ready to graduate.

Mar. 13—National Honor Society strutted up to the platform while all the kids clapped. I walked right along with the crowd.

Mar. 18—Everybody studying for the Emporia state exams, but the smart guys.

Mar. 25—What do you think! No fifth hour today so that the teachers can correct the state test papers. I pity them for the first time.

Mar. 27—Big snow fall, but they had the athletic banquet just the same.

Apr. 1—Martha said the library girls had a rushing business in simple lyrics today. Every junior who didn't owe a fine was trying to check a book out.

April 2—Florence Henry rushed to school at seven o'clock this morning and said she thought she was late. I bet she expected to see Arthur or some other guy.

April 3—Mr. Lebow took all the good singers and went to Lindsborg. I was in the crowd. Glee Club took first, orchestra second.

April 6—Miss J. Gemmill is sure a good collector. I saw her get four cents out of Leonard Wood today.

April 10—National Honor Society held its initiation ceremony tonight at Roosevelt. Joe Kent and Dale Raynesford and a lot of studious seniors were present.

April 17—C. K. L. music contest came off today. In the afternoon we had a half holiday. The Junior Prom committee meets every day now. The juniors are getting awfully secretive.

April 22—Dick Armstrong was held down in history today by somebody's gum. It was a big piece, probably Junior Maynard's, his mouth isn't small.

April 23—The Student Council came dressed as hoboes and gave the school a good time this morning. Blaine Rogers looked swell in a smart jacket suit; Hershell Montgomery had that vacant look he wears most of the time.

The Junior Prom was a real party. Everything was moonlight, even the eats. The dates looked swell in their long skirts. James Molby made a dignified debate speech, hinting how expensive banquets are. But he said everyone was welcome, even the faculty.

April 26—Fred G. told in English class how a camel crossed the equator in the middle of the Pacific Ocean. I am sure Miss Moore gave him an A on volunteer work. She says she likes initiative stew-dents.

April 27—The French class celebrated music week with Cadet Rouselle, whoever he is. I never do see any of the new kids in town.

May 1—Mike Miller says Miss Fuller throw a bomb in constitution today and he was among the casualties.

May 4—The kids in the French classes are receiving letters from boys and girls in France and Belgium. I wish I'd taken French. I might have got acquainted with a swell friend who would invite me to visit at his chateau.

May 5—What do you think, the juniors had forty-nine dollars left after they paid their prom bills! They might have had salted almonds and two pieces of cake and more moonlight if they'd realized how prices had gone down on food stuff.

May 6—I've got to stop this literary work and study for finals. I'd hate to flunk and not get my name on the graduating list especially after sending out my invitations. So I'll just sign off. Watch for me on Commencement night.

"Well, I just sold that fine new encyclopedia to Kenneth Rearwin."

"Why, I thought he already knew more than any encyclopedia."

"Yes, he admitted that, but he said he would get a thrill going through it and picking out all the errors."

Bill Ellis: Say, Harold, your car sure has an awful rattle.

Lois: Well, it didn't have until we picked you up, Billy."

Herlan Loyd: Be it ever so humble
There's no face like my own.

What are the three R's?

Shorty B.: Rah! Rah! Rah!

Miss Smith in history class: Just how far has the aviation industry developed?
Jimmie Glass: Oh, I guess it is still in its infantry.

Lila: Is a chicken two weeks old, big enough to eat?

Alvena: Why, no.

Lila: Then how does it live?

Lila in G. R.: Miss Miles will be the speaker this morning. I am sorry, but we'll try to have a better program next time.

Herlan I.: Give me some gum.

Edith C.: What will you do if I give you some gum?

Herlan L.: I'll chew it, of course.

License Clerk: If your brakes failed to work going down hill, what would you do?

Verona Marshall: Jump out and put a stone under the wheel.

Kenneth excitedly: Did you hear that Ambrose was half killed in a collision with a motor cycle?

Houck, more excitedly: What about my bicycle he was riding?

Senior boy: That girl I had a date with last night reminded me of an almond bar.

Junior boy: How's that?

Senior boy: She was sweet, but rather nutty.

Miss Bradford—"Have you ever read "To a Mouse?"

Oren Kratzer—"Naw, how do you get 'em to listen?"

Motorist at Rearwin's Filling Station—"Juice?"

Kenneth R.—"We are not."

Mrs. Blake—"Fred, your studies are suffering. Do you need a coach?"

Fred—"No, a roadster will do."

Mr. Anderson—"When does a foreigner become an American?"

Bill Marlin—"When he becomes neutralized."

R. Thomas—"I don't like these flies in here."

Miss Long—"Very well; I'll open the windows and let some other ones in."

Joe calls his Hi-Y pin soldier because it has been on so many fronts.

"Bobbie in his careless glee mixed some I with NH₃

When the stuff was dry and thick, Bobbie hit it with a brick.

Robert's now in heaven they say; at least he seemed to go that way."

"Johnny, feeling like a bore, drank some H₂ SO₄;

So his father, an M. D., gave him Ca CO₃. Johnny's neutralized, 'tis true, but he's full of CO₂."

Miss Miles—Robert, what is the biggest date in history?

Murphy—Last night. Gosh! I forgot to come back. Honest I did.

Helen Buerhle—"I have the strangest sensation when I read poetry.

Donald Greene—"That's because you're dizzy."

Josephine B.—Miss Gemmill, are you Scotch?

Miss J. Gemmill—Yes.

Josephine B.—No wonder we have to return your library books so soon.
